Galloping Ghost

1950

Published by
The Students of Randolph High School
Randolph, Vermont

Dedication

We, the Class of 1950, dedicate this yearbook to our classmate, Lawrence Berry, Jr. This about him we especially remember — his serious manner, yet ready wit and love of fun; his great liking of his favorite team, the Brooklyn Dodgers; his modesty despite the studies he always handled well; his friendliness to those who knew him best and respect to all he met.

Student Council

The Student Council is the governing body of Randolph High and Junior High School.

It is made up of the presidents of each class; two students, a boy and a girl, from the seventh and eighth grades and each class in high school; the president of the council, usually a senior; Mr. Murray, and a faculty adviser, selected by the council, making nineteen members.

It is the Student Council's duty to assemble at any time to solve problems confronting the student body. It sponsors the annual Carnival plays, sports, Skool Nooz, library, and many other student activities.

Class History

by Dorothy Fullam, Jean Chambers, and Anita Tancreti

One sunny morning in September, 1938, Miss Simonds (now Mrs. Gaidys) and Miss Blodah looked down upon thirty-nine beaming faces destined to become the senior class of 1950. Of these, only nine are graduating this year.

The most remembered fact was that of Silas Carpenter, who spent a good share of the year sitting in the wastepaper basket.

Miss Ackroyd took us over in the second grade. Betsy Birchard, Anita Tancreti, Mavis Carpenter and Wesley Rumney joined us. Many a ruler was broken this year for various reasons. Everybody seemed to get better books than Mavis Carpenter and we used that fact to tease her most of the time.

Despite the tales we heard about hair-pulling and trips to the coat-room, we spent an enjoyable year with Mrs. Stokes in the third grade. This year we gained Peter Kling, Jerry Thomas and Kenneth King. Even at this early stake, we had "steadies" such as Jean Brigham and Peter Kling.

Luckily, we passed into the fourth grade with Miss Walbridge looking down upon our dumb little faces, especially in history class. Dorothy Fullam and Kenneth Lewis always seemed to be at the foot of the class — in history, that is. We gained Glenora Staples and Richard Rattie this year.

Under the iron hand of Miss DeLuca, in the fifth grade, we learned the forty-eight states and their capitals. Our childish minds remember best that Miss DeLuca's hair changed color from day to day. This year we gained Ed Brown, Dick Morse, Dick Wilson, Beverly and Geraldine Bowen and Raymie Rattee.

In the fall of 1943 we entered the sixth grade under the direction of Miss Dorothy Marshall. She tried very hard to teach us to draw but finally gave up as we used a whole sheet of drawing paper to draw one little duck. We gained David Bell, Allen Wright, Roma Burke and Joan Bidwell. Joan Bidwell caused great excitement on the playground one day by getting into a fight with Richard Rattie and actually pinning him to the ground — and not with pins and needles either!!! Roma Burke's coat hanger was the envy of all the girls and, because we were all jealous, we used to hide it on her.

We felt pretty proud of ourselves when we finally entered junior high under jovial Mrs. Simmons. It was during this year that we lost one of the nicest teachers Randolph could ever have. Mrs. Buck (now Mrs. Blaisdell) took us over and did a good job. We all liked her and tried to learn our lessons for her. This year we gained Buddy Bowen, who introduced many new ideas into our innocent little heads. Our seventh grade picnic turned out to be a complete failure due to our breaking into a camp and not realizing what we were doing. For our play we put on "The Apple of His Eye."

In the fall of 1945 we crossed the hall into the eighth grade with Mrs. Gray. During this year, Mr. Amee substituted for Mrs. Blaisdell and tried to teach us civics. We remember him because of the slight crush he had on Cynthia Holden. Remember the time he was painting the interior of Mr. Boright's house, Cynthia? We spent much time after school for putting tacks in other classmates' seats and not owning up to it. We gained Ralph Thurber.

With faltering steps we climber the stairs to high school. We had Mr. Murray and Miss Johnson as advisers for our large class of 63.

Our class officers were: President, Allen Sprague; vice president, Cynthia Holden; secretary, Janet Prescott; treasurer, Joan Rye; Student Council, Jean Brigham and Edward Brown. Our freshman Carnival play was "Ghost of a Show."

We entered the sophomore class with 58 of us still going strong. Our class advisers were Miss Burke and Mr. Gray.

We lost Ruth Price, Paul Bent, Lucille Farnham, Arnold Durkee and Robert Hunt, and gained Albert Cooper and Marie Julian.

Our class officers were: President, Jean Brigham; vice president, Allen Sprague; secretary, Joan Rye; treasurer, Cynthia Holden; Student Council, Jane Wood and Jerry Thomas.

For our sophomore Carnival play we presented "In May With June." We also had our annual corn roast.

Before we knew it we found ourselves jolly juniors. This year the class was decreased to 45. We lost Geraldine Bowen, David Bell, Robert Bowen, Helen Flint, Donald Russell, Ramon Tancreti, Ralph Thurber, Hazel Bennett, Judith Gratton, Roberta Tabor, George Berry, Kenneth King and Franklin Williams.

Our class officers were: President, Richard Rattie; vice president, Edward Brown; secretary, Cynthia Holden; treasurer, Raymond Poulin; Student Council, Alfred Jarvis and Marie Julian; advisers, Mr. Bond and Mr. Parker.

We had "Hearts and Flowers" for our Carnival play. We conducted dancing school and had a corn roast.

At last we found ourselves silly seniors. We lost Marilyn McGee, Leta Martell, Beverly Bowen, and, unfortunately, Lawrence Berry, in an accident, and gained Arthur Krivacs. Our class numbers, at this point, 41.

We elected as our officers: President, Allen Sprague; vice president, Jean Chambers; secretary, Cynthia Holden; treasurer, Raymond Poulin; Student Council, Jean Sivret and Edward Brown; advisers, Mr. Bond and Mr. Robertie.

Our senior play was "Connecticut Yankee," which turned out to be a success after all. "Hummingbird Hiccups," our Carnival play, came through and we, at last, walked away with the cup.

Despite all the talk about our being the worst class all twelve years, we realize they have been some of the most important years of our lives. With all that sadness in mind we say goodbye to our school days and bring this, our history, to a close.

Class Will

by Jean Sivret, Evelyn Wagner and Raymond Poulin

We the class of 1950, do hereby publish and declare this to be our last will and testament:

To the Junior Class, we will our unquestionable and unexcelled class dignity.

To the Sophomore Class, we bequeath our private abode, Room 14, in hopes that they will have as many happy moments there as we did.

To the Freshman Class, we leave the hope that if we made it, so can they.

To the faculty we will our ability to take life easy — enough said.

I, Elizabeth Bassett, do will my long fingernails to Shirley Bird (just in case she gets hungry).

I, Betsy Birchard, do will my position as captain of the cheer leaders to anyone who thinks he can keep peace and quiet.

I, Loraine Boudreau, will my ability to be the first at school in the morning to those juniors who come at 8:31.

I, Theresa Brassard, do leave my job of keeping the school savings accurately and in order to Dorothy Amadon.

I, Jean Brigham, do will my steadiness to Pat Brainerd so Dick Morse won't have to worry so much in the future.

I, Robert Broadwell, do will my ability to sleep wherever I am to Elwin Preston, who needs more rest.

I, Edward Brown, do bequeath my ability to talk my way out of any situation to Sherman Salter.

I, Lawrence Camp, do leave my calm and easy-going manner to Larry Leonard.

I, Jean Chambers, do will my fondness for boys with blonde hair to the few girls remaining who do not feel the same way.

I, Albert Cooper, do will my large vocabulary to anyone who can tell me what I'm talking about.

I, Doris Davis, do will my spectacles to Wendall Thurston so that he may continue to spot the oncoming cars while on patrol duty.

I, Dorothy Fullam, do will my ability to keep more than one man on the string to Elaine Chadwick, who seems to be having trouble.

I, June Harding, do will my love for flowers to "Pat" Estabrook so that the school building will continue to look "homey."

I, Cynthia Holden, do will my ability to speak up in class meetings to the Class of '51, so that nothing will be put over on them.

I, Alfred Jarvis, do will my quiet manner to Gordon Brown — just to give the teachers a rest.

I, Marie Julian, do will my soft, delicate voice to Marylin Packard.

I, Zita Knowles, do will my love for out-of-town boys to Edna Bingham.

I, Arthur Krivacs, do bequeath my reputation for being the answer to a maiden's prayer back to Clark Gable.

I, Philip Lamb, do will my ability to remain in class after once getting there, to "Gus" Sivret.

I, Kenneth Lewis, do will my ability to go steady to "Bud" Maynes.

I, Beverly Martin, do leave my ability to live outside of town and still get to school on time to Marlene Kellogg.

I, Richard Montgomery, do will my quiet nature to Helen Barrett.

I, Richard Morse, do will my horse laugh to Herbert Wilson.

I, Maurice Palmer, do will my tall stature to Dean Harrington to go along with his red, curly hair and freckles.

I, Raymond Poulin, do will my singing ability to Philip Morse so that R. H. S. tenors will be represented at Music Festival next year.

I, Janet Prescott, do bequeath my home near the Aggie School to Nancy Grassetto so that Nancy won't have so far to go.

I, Raymie Rattee, do will my knowledge of the best parking spots to "Bud" Richards.

I, Richard Rattie, do will my ability to flirt and keep a steady girl friend to "Bucky" Maynard.

I, Joan Rye, do will my ability to get good marks to any juniors who need them toward graduation next year.

I, Marion Sawyer, do will my acting ability to the Sophomore Class in hopes that next year at Carnival they won't be so disappointed.

I, Jean Sivret, do leave my unfinished typing to anyone who has nothing to do for the next year or two.

I, Barbara Smith, do will my ability to get along with all my teachers to Dino Merusi.

I, Bryant Smith, do will my ability to knit to Ruth Angell so that she will have something to keep her warm next year.

I, Gordon Smith, do will my interest in the Boston Red Sox to Janet Morse and Virginia Waldo, also my father's Dodge so that they can go to see the World Series.

I, Allen Sprague, do leave my position as president of the Senior Class to next year's victim.

I, Anita Tancreti, do will my love for sports to Gerald LaRocque.

I, Gerald Thomas, do will my love for sports to Gerald LaRocque.

I, Evelyn Wagner, do bequeath my dancing ability to David Sprague.

I, Dick Wilson, do leave my ability to get out of any kind of work to Donald Perry.

I, Jane Wood, do will my red hair to Louis Belisle so that next year he can still have his flame around.

I, Allen Wright, do will my ability to play basketball to Dean Flint, though we know he won't need it.

In witness, whereof, we have hereto set our hand and seal this fourteenth day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty.

LUNA TICK,

JOHN'S OTHER WIFE,

B. O. PLENTY.

Class Prophecy

by Richard Montgomery, Jean Brigham, Edward Brown, Marion Sawyer

TIME — September 23, 1970.

PLACE — "Old Faithful" or Bear Hill.

Edward — I figured you would be here. It seems the Class of '50 always ended up here. What have you been doing in the last twenty years for excitement?

Jean — I'm here on a vacation from New York City, where I give piano concerts at Carnegie Hall. My husband, Richard Montgomery, has a large farm in Braintree Gap now. He has a specialty of raising cows that give chocolate milk. He does have some spare time though and in that time he is caretaker of our dear old Bear Hill.

Edward — Just couldn't leave the old place, right? I got kind of lonesome myself and seeing I was here on business I thought I would come up. You remember Richard Rattie?

Jean — What is he doing now?

Edward — Richard is having trouble with his seventh wife. She is refusing to pay his alimony. His eighth wife is complaining. Say, isn't that someone I know coming?

Jean — Yes, that's Marion Sawyer. I haven't seen her in years.

Marion — Hello! This place must be a magnet. We always seem to come back here. Just as I was coming up here I saw a car go flying by on the main road. Beverly Martin was driving. She is a race car driver now, you know. Not too far behind was Philip Lamb, the state cop. Things won't be very pleasant for her when he catches up with her.

Jean — Meeting up here is certainly an unbelievable thing. I wonder what the rest of our classmates are doing. After high school Bryant Smith started a knitting mill where he produced those sweaters by machine that he knitted by hand in high school. I heard that the factory has enlarged and he has a fine business. Barbara Smith, who became a secretary, is now typing his mail for him. How time changes things. After you finished nurses' training you married, didn't you, Marion?

Marion — Yes, and I am using my nursing profession to advantage. I am working in the Norwich University infirmary. Why, isn't this Richard Montgomery coming? I wonder what he is doing up here?

Richard — I see, Jean, that you found someone to talk to. Strange, they all seem to be classmates. Is this a class reunion? If it is, I hope it is a little calmer than our class meetings used to be.

Edward — We did used to have some pretty hot times, didn't we?

Richard — You remember Maurice Palmer and Robert Broadwell, don't you? They have a joint partnership in the so-called "Palmer and Broadwell (Do or Die) Destruction Company." Their secretary, Anita Tancreti, just called me to see if there were any trees up here we want out of the way. I said, "No." No telling what would happen if those two got up here together. Remember those old school days?

Marion — I heard that Dick Morse is the editor of a newspaper in town called "The Bellyache Times." Making out pretty good, I hear. Loraine Boudreau is his reporter. I hear she is the greatest gossip collector in the whole state.

Jean — I was listening to the radio before I came up here. All I could get was the baseball game. I was about to turn it off when I heard the announcer, Gerald "Grace" Thomas, say that Allen Wright was the winning pitcher in the game between the Dodgers and the Red Sox. I listened further and found out that Dick Wilson was playing second baseman for the Dodgers.

Edward — Jane Wood is now a physical education teacher at Randolph High School. It must seem strange to Jane, since they now have the new school building, that the floors don't squeak, the windows work, and Mr. Lary even has a secretary, who is Janet Prescott. Janet wrote to me and told me she now knows that we didn't know half as much about Mr. Lary as we thought we did when we were in high school.

Marion — I'd heard so much about Tunbridge Fair these last fifteen years that I decided this year to go back. Guess who I saw? None other than our own little Dorothy Fullam doing the "Dance of the Four Winds." Kenneth Lewis has an undertaking stand at Tunbridge Fair taking care of the people that get dead drunk.

Jean — Allen Sprague is now operating a cheese factory. The cheese is made from gopher feathers which are the fuzz off peaches. Theresa Brassard is his secretary. Sprague always liked the shy and bashful type.

Richard — Albert Cooper just won the Pulitzer prize for the winning novel of the year, the name of which is, "There Wasn't a Sober One In the Bunch of Us." I believe Zita Knowles, who is now married, works in Albert's office.

Edward — Jean Chambers is teaching music in the place of "Pep" Blanchard, who is now retired. Krivacs — you remember Art, Jean's flame, who is now vegetable farming, still sees quite a lot of her. He must think she is quite a tomato.

Richard — Joan Rye is still having trouble in deciding between the Navy and local boys.

Edward — She had better hurry up, she's getting old.

Marion — Oh, I forgot to tell you that Bunny Wagner is dancing at the same show that Dorothy is in Tunbridge. Gordon Smith is a psychiatrist in New York City. Jean Sivret and Cynthia Holden are working in his office as nurses. They are all considered tops in their profession. I heard they have been working three years on Mr. Robertie and Mr. Bond. It must be the after effects from our class meetings.

Jean — I was talking with Doris Davis, the telephone operator, who now spends more time talking with her boy friends than asking people the number they want. She told me that Lawrence Camp, after twenty years of chicken farming, got a square egg.

Richard — Raymie Rattee is running his own Grand Union Store here in Randolph, and his wife, Marie Julian, is singing in the choir at the church.

Edward — I was just visiting Raymond Poulin in the hospital yesterday. He is having treatments for nerves. I guess his night club is too much for him. Anyway, he has some good nurses, June Harding, Betsy Birchard and Elizabeth Bassett.

Marion — Alfred Jarvis is just a plain farmer. I guess he was the only sensible one of us, after all. Well, Bear Hill is just as dead as it always was. Guess I'll go along.

Edward — All kidding aside, we have had quite a lot of fun up here. I must be going, too.

Jean — Well, Richard, we are alone at last.

Richard — Yes, Jean. Through all the years we know that love never grows old.

Class Song

(Sung to tune of "Memories")

by Albert Cooper and Lawrence Camp

High school days, high school days,
Days just left behind,
We'll remember teachers and the classes we've been in;
Days of work, days of fun, among our classmates true,
We're leaving you now, but we'll always be proud
Of our days at Randolph High.

Freshman hops, senior ball, days of fun for all,
Other days of sweat and toil, of stumbling through the hall;
Fire drills, school-day ills, days both long and short,
We're leaving you now, but we'll always be proud
Of our days at Randolph High.

Class Poem

by Gordon Smith, Arthur Krivacs and Loraine Boudreau

The days we've know at Randolph
Are drawing to a close;
In dusty corners, books and notes
Now find their last repose.
The lessons we have learned from them,
The things that they have taught,
Will ever help us on our way
And win the goals we've sought.
Soon we're going forth alone,
Like soldiers out to war;
Going out to face the world
To see what life will hold in store.
Deep in our hearts, we needs must hope
That we will win our fight;
We know that we will onward push
To better aims with all our might.
We know that everyone of us
Feels the same regret;
To think we nevermore shall see
The friends at Randolph we have met.
We all are proud that we can say
Randolph's our Alma Mater, dear;
We'll remember every day of each,
The joys and cares of each short year.
Soon we all are going away
And many an eye with tears is wet;
Although there's nothing we can say,
We know we never can forget.

Boys' Basketball

The Randolph Gallopig Ghosts didn't have such an outstanding finale as they did in '49, winding up with ten wins while dropping eight.

By graduation this year the team loses Dick Wilson, Gordon Smith, Allen Sprague, Allen Wright, Jerry Thomas and Richard Rattie, but with three regulars back there is the making of a good team.

Girls' Basketball

The girls, coached by Mr. Bond, had a very successful season, with nine wins and one loss, losing their one and only to Woodstock. Next year's squad will suffer greatly by the loss of five out of six of the first team — Jane Wood, Jean Sivret, Evelyn Wagner, Jean Brigham and Dot Fullam.

Music - Orchestra and Chorus

Since the war a great variety of instruments and instrumental lessons have again been available to us. Our school instrumental study in the responsibility of parents entirely. The school does schedule one rehearsal a week for those students who have had instrumental work. From this group representatives are sent to the State Music Festival. Students playing the instruments that are found in fewer numbers are more apt to be accepted by the state committee in charge of the affair.

Chorus is an elective activity which meets twice a week. Mixed choral selections form the basis of our work although some three-part compositions for men's and women's chorus are done. From this group are chosen the people who contribute to various community activities during the year and participate in the State Music Festival. This year fifty-four students were selected. A criticism from a music specialist gives some indication as to how our work compares with that of other schools in the state. This is most helpful in planning the particular points to be stressed in the following year.

Debating

The Debating Club met twice a month during the first half of the year, with about 20 members taking part. Ed Brown was chosen president and Joan Rye, secretary. Cynthia Holden, John Blackmer and Leah Jones were named as a planning committee. After mid-years, work was concentrated on preparation for the tournament. Two debates were held with Burlington and two with Montpelier J. V.'s, besides exhibition debates before the Woman's Club and before five different classes in high school and junior high.

At the U. V. M. tournament in Burlington on April 29, the school was represented by Leah Jones and Dorothy Perry, affirmative; Elaine Pitkin and Edward Brown, negative. This group won debates from Middlebury, Montpelier and Leland and Gray Seminary, while losing to the last two schools and to Burlington, for a 3-3 record and third place. Edward received a second scholarship award, rating one ballot behind the first-place winner.

Besides the tournament team, Cynthia Holden, Gordon Winot, Christine Snow and Sheldon Newman took part in inter-scholastic discussions. The topic in all these was: "Resolved, That the President of the United States Should Be Elected By Direct Vote of the People."

Safety Patrol

The Randolph High Patrol was the first of its kind organized in the state. It has kept a record of not a single accident while on duty and lived up to it again this year.

The patrol went to Springfield for a field day on May 13. Qualifications for the School Safety Patrol are:

1. Sound moral character.
2. Dependability and willingness to obey orders.
3. Good scholastic record —
 - (a) Passing in three subjects.
 - (b) In good standing with all teachers in conduct, work accomplished, etc.

Building Patrol

The Building Patrol is made up of Senior girls who volunteer to help with school duties. Among these duties are inspecting desks, patrolling the hall and stairs, pulling the shades and inspecting the cloakrooms. In return for their service, each girl receives credit toward her Silver R.
